Our clients—ranging from hedge fund and global asset managers, to CEOs and senior executives at the world's largest multinationals, to intelligence analysts and leading political officials—come to us for precise guidance when they're operating in uncertain environments. We tailor our global expertise to each client's specific risk profile, providing pertinent information before it appears in the news.

Our clients have direct phone and email access to our research analysts whenever they have pressing concerns, and we offer in-person presentations to discuss issues in greater depth. We provide advisory services and tailored consulting projects, ranging from short-term, transaction-specific due diligence to long-term monitoring for organizations with ongoing exposure in specific regions. Clients also receive regular research reports with innovative analysis, including timely event-driven notes, monthly forecasts, and in-depth regional and global outlooks.

Reduce exposure. Raise opportunities.

G.G.A. uses qualitative assessments and quantitative methodologies to forecast and analyze political risks. Our comprehensive advisory and consulting services provide an essential addition to economic intelligence.

Today, we continue to use comparative analytics to provide timely information on key political drivers in markets around the world and highlight global trends. Our experts identify risk trigger points and build comprehensive scenarios to help clients reduce their vulnerability in potentially volatile regions while uncovering new opportunities.

"What is Political Risk? Political risk is about understanding that governments and businesses have different expectations and goals. To operate a global business successfully, you need to understand what motivates government action, particularly in places where politics matter at least as much as economics to market outcomes."
